

Strawberry Festival honors Salvation Army with 1st place award

L-r: Lt. Colonel Harold Brodin and Major Jonathan Apuan hold The Salvation Army's 1st place award for best non-profit organization.

The Salvation Army from Everett, Wash., participated in the annual Marysville Strawberry Festival Twilight parade on June 15. Ten Army musicians rode on a flatbed truck and played pieces from the tune book and a selection of marches. The canteen followed. About 140 different groups marched in the parade.

The Salvation Army received a first place prize for being the best non-profit organization in the community.

Major Jonathan and Lt. Dawn Apuan are the Everett corps officers, and Lt. Colonel Harold Brodin is the director of the Marysville office for the corps.
